

Product Overview:

The HR52-BT Bonito is a wireless 2D scanner that comes in two editions. The Retail edition is perfect for high traffic point of sale scanning and includes the ability to read DotCode on tobacco products. The Logistics edition, on the other hand, is able to read barcodes that are creased, damaged or covered in cellophane, making it ideal for back of house scanning.

Both editions feature the HR52's trusty megapixel scanner, allowing for fast and accurate high volume scanning. Another shared feature is the cross laser aimer which makes 'point and shoot' scanning easy, even for those who aren't familiar with barcode scanning. Combined with the HR52-BT Bonito's wireless capability, point and shoot scanning can be a huge time saver, particularly in logistical environments where users will need to be on foot and away from the dock for long periods of time.

HR52-BT Bonito

2D Bluetooth scanner

Key Features:

Perfect POS or logistics solution.

Both versions of the HR52-BT Bonito have been designed exclusively with retail and logistics in mind. A high resolution scanner makes short work of high volume scanning without compromising on speed or accuracy.

Precise aiming for fast scanning.

Both retail and logistics versions of the HR52-BT Bonito are wireless up to 50m, so point-and-shoot scanning is important. Both editions feature a built-in cross laser aimer which makes scanning multiple items at various angles easy, even for those who aren't familiar with handheld scanners.

Flexible and adaptable.

Because the HR52-BT Bonito has been designed for use in both retail and logistics environments, it's one of the most adaptable scanners we've seen. The included stand allows for hands-free scanning, but it can also be mounted vertically, horizontally or hung from the ceiling for easy accessibility.

Tough and resilient.

From POS to warehouse scanning, accidents happen. Both versions of the HR52-BT Bonito are drop resistant up to 1.8 meters and have been fully tested to withstand accidental bumps and knocks with ease.
